1. On 25 and 26 September 1950 most of the flatcars previously sidetracked at railroad stations along the Vienna-Allentsteig (O 49/R 53) line were not there. However, the number of flatcars at the Goepfritz (O 49/R 64) and Allentsteig railroad stations had increased considerably. Railroadmen stated that the troops from the Doellersheim area were expected to leave in the near future. However, there were no direct indications of imminent loading operations.
2. Only little military activity was observed in Allentsteig. An infantry column of about 150 soldiers was seen on a march. The troops were armed with submachine guns and pulled three AA machine guns on two-wheel carts.
